

IMPORTANT – BEFORE CONTACTING A LOAN PROVIDER

Recognizing the need for a list of local SBA lenders offering the PPP Loan Program during the COVID-19 crisis, we have assembled this easy to use resource for you.

If you are currently a customer of one of the below providers, it is strongly suggested that you stay with your lending institution for efficiency purposes. If your lending institution doesn't offer the SBA PPP Loan program then it is suggested that you contact one of the providers below.

If you are not a current customer of one of the below lenders, you will need to become a customer to apply for the PPP loan. For any new clients, the lender will need to onboard your organization and also perform due diligence, which includes opening an operating account with their financial institution. Please note that it is customary for a financial institution to offer priority service to the needs of existing clients or to those looking to establish a long-term business relationship.
